

IT Training bespoke training based on customer need

In order to get the maximum benefit from any investment in technology, effective training is a critical factor for any company. As such our objective is to work with our clients to establish tailored training strategies, which are both measurable and effective.

Our training specialists have extensive experience of Microsoft software products and also in producing tailored courses for a broad range of other business specific applications.

We place strong emphasis on the business aspects of training, allowing us to better appreciate the objectives of our clients and ensure that courses meet their goals. Quiss understand that many organisations prefer to have training on their own site as this minimises the amount of time a delegate spends away from the office. For those organisations that prefer off site courses we have a fully equipped training suite at our facility in Tamworth.

Our focus is on developing long term partnerships with our clients through an ongoing cycle of assessment, planning, training, review and feedback. Training needs within organisations are changing all the time and our approach provides a much higher level of benefit to the client than a one off training service, although this can also be accommodated on request.

Following the completion of our training, delegates are asked to fill in an assessment form. These are then analysed and discussed with the client, to ensure that the initial objectives of the programme have been successfully met and any recommendations made with regard to further training.

In addition to providing courses on the majority of key applications used in the office today, we will assist experienced users in the transition from older to newer software versions or train new users from the basics to an advanced standard, ensuring that the best possible use is made of the technology.

The Quiss team consists of trainers with wide experience delivering standard training modules, courses tailored to specific business needs and also workshop or floor-walking training sessions.
